

Data Modelling Zone comes to Australia

Sydney, Australia, 11 September, 2014 – Analytics8 has further extended upon its position as the leading provider of Data Modelling Consulting and Implementation services, by signing an exclusive partnership agreement with Steve Hoberman of Technics Publications to bring Data Modelling Zone to Australia.

Analytics8 will be hosting the inaugural Australian Data Modelling Zone (DMZ) conference in Sydney on 13-14 May 2015. This conference, which will feature speakers and attendees from around the world, provides training, workshopping, knowledge-sharing, and networking opportunities for those who build and use data models to capture operational and analytical data requirements for software development. This year DMZ includes two days of data modelling related sessions for every skill level.

The world is quickly changing with respect to how we view and analyse data, and along with these changes, data modelling plays a major role. The principles of data modelling need to stay firm, but our application of them needs refinement as technology advances. The sessions at Data Modelling Zone are a reflection of where the data modelling industry is, and where it is heading.

Delegates will learn and experience the most innovative data modelling thinking, shared by some of the most accomplished data thought-leaders, both local and international.

Download the DMZ agenda

Register to attend Data Modelling Zone

Register for an Expert 1-on-1 to answer your questions about your environment

Sponsors will have a rare opportunity to expose their brand and capabilities to a highly focused group of data management professionals focused on data modelling.

Sponsor Data Modelling Zone

As a longstanding Australian leader in data management consultancy and implementation services, Analytics8 is proud to be bringing Data Modelling Zone to Australia.

###

About Analytics8

Analytics8 specialises solely in the provision of Business Intelligence and Data Warehousing Services. An Australian success story founded in 2002, the company is a team of 80+ consultants across offices in Australia and the USA. Analytics8 has deep multi-vendor expertise in providing Consultancy, Technical Implementation and Support for the leading business intelligence vendors. Analytics8 prescribes and delivers these best-of-breed services to our clients' specific and unique needs.

For further information, visit <http://www.analytics8.com>

Media Contact:

Mr. Mark Sands

Country Manager

Analytics8

Tel: +61 2 9299 4430

enquiries@analytics8.com